

California Professional Teaching Development Centers

The goal of these centers is to improve teaching quality by increasing the number of National Board Certified Teachers (NBCTs) throughout California, especially in low-performing schools.

The centers are actively recruiting participants for Take One! and candidates for National Board Certification and providing support programs and scholarships. The centers are also reaching out to schools, principally QEIA-funded schools, that want to develop professional learning communities based on the processes and standards of the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards.

For information about a particular PTDC, please contact one of the coordinators listed below.

PTDC	Contact	Email
California State Fullerton	Tara Barnhart, NBCT	tbarnhart@fullerton.edu
California State Northridge	Dr. Virginia Kennedy	virginia.kennedy@csun.edu
National University	Ronarae Adams, NBCT	radams@nu.edu
San Joaquin County Office of Education	Dr. Kathe Gonsalves	kagonsalves@sicoe.net
University of California, Los Angeles, Center X	Carrie Usui, NBCT	usui@gseis.ucla.edu